WANTED

Tippi Canoe

Tippi Canoe

OCCUPATION

PART-TIME CON ARTIST AND FULL-TIME REAL ESTATE AGENT

DESCRIPTION

A smooth talker with a lightning-quick pen, Tippi has sold enough New York City real estate to fill the Grand Canyon ten times over. Unfortunately for her customers, none of it was ever hers to sell. Still trying to make up for the deal which sold Manhattan to the Dutch for $24, the raven-haired Iroquois recently conned a Rotterdam investor into coughing up a down payment on the Brooklyn Bridge. By batting her lovely grey eyes, she also swung a new deal for the FDR Drive. Tippi gets past the "no pets allowed" sign in her penthouse apartment by dressing up her pet coyote, Babe (named after Tippi's favorite baseball player), in a Yankee cap and a catcher's mask.